

Year End Tax Planning

2009 - 2010

Income tax saving for couples

You might be able to save tax by switching income from one spouse or partner to the other. You should aim to use up both individuals' personal allowances (£6,475 in 2009/10 and 2010/11) and minimise any higher rate tax.

Couples earning higher incomes should think ahead. From 6 April 2010, income over £150,000 will be taxed at 50% and the personal allowance will be withdrawn where income (less certain deductions) is more than £100,000. You and your partner could reorganise your financial affairs now to avoid exceeding one of these limits next year. However, there might be capital gains tax (CGT) to pay on switching ownership of an investment if you are not married or in a civil partnership.

In business

If you are in business, you could pay a non-earning partner a salary, on which you will then get tax relief. You will not need PAYE records if the salary is below the national insurance contribution (NIC) limit of £412 a month in 2009/10. However, if the salary is between £412 and £476, your partner will avoid paying any NICs, but will still qualify for state benefits, such as a pension. In particular, your partner's benefits under the state second pension (S2P) will accrue as if the annual salary were £13,900.

As well as salary, you can pay an employer's contribution to your partner's personal pension plan. There is no tax or NIC on the payment itself, and it should be an allowable business expense. Be warned that the total value of your partner's salary, benefits and pension contributions must be justifiable in relation to the work performed.

Alternatively, you could share the profits of your business by operating as a partnership. You both need to be genuinely involved as business partners, though not necessarily equally.

Dividends

If you operate your business as a company in which you both have shares, you should consider paying a dividend before 6 April 2010 if the gross income (including the tax credit) will fall into the basic rate band or to avoid next year's tax increases for high earners.

Alternatively, if the rate of tax is not an issue, you may consider delaying payment of a dividend until after 5 April 2010 in order to benefit from deferral of tax by up to one year.

You could even give shares to your spouse or civil partner shortly before paying the dividend, provided you genuinely transfer ownership. You should leave as much time as possible between the gift and paying the dividend.

Business owners

Business tax planning is usually best done before the end of the accounting period, but even if your business year end is not 31 March or 5 April, this is a good time to review your tax position.

As with 2008/09, up to £50,000 of trading losses made in your accounting period ending in the 2009/10 tax year can be carried back and set against profits up to three years earlier (rather than the usual one year carry back). You might be able to maximise expenditure this year, or in some cases even change your accounting period end, to take advantage of this temporary extended loss relief.

Much capital expenditure can qualify for tax relief. Businesses get immediate tax relief on the first £50,000 a year spent on most types of equipment and many fixtures in buildings. There is also a 40% allowance for certain expenditure above £50,000 incurred up to 5 April 2010. You might be able to maximise tax relief by planning the timing of your purchases.

Consider when to dispose of cars and other equipment. Whether a disposal is before or after your accounting year end will affect your tax payments.

Furnished holiday lettings

The special income and capital gains tax reliefs for furnished holiday lettings will end on 5 April 2010. If you let property that qualifies for these reliefs, you should review your options in good time to take any action before that date.

Useful link: www.businesslink.gov.uk – helpful advice for businesses.

Planning point The timing of expenditure and asset disposals before or after the end of your accounting period can affect the amount of tax you pay, and when it is payable.

Capital gains tax planning

Every individual, with some rare exceptions, has an annual capital gains tax (CGT) exemption, which in 2009/10 makes the first £10,100 of gains free of tax. Gains above the annual exemption are usually taxed at 18%.

You should normally aim to use your annual exemption by making disposals before 6 April. In practice, for 2010, the cut-off date is Thursday 1 April, because 2 April is Good Friday. If you have already made gains of more than £10,100 in this tax year, you might be able to dispose of investments to create a tax loss to set against the gains.

If your disposals so far this tax year have resulted in a net loss, the decision whether to dispose of investments to realise gains before 6 April 2010 depends on the amounts involved.

You might be able to save CGT by first transferring assets between married couples or civil partners, if one partner has an unused annual exemption or capital losses. You should generally leave as much time as possible between the transfer of the assets and their sale.

CGT is payable on 31 January after the end of the tax year in which you made the disposal. You could delay a major sale until after 5 April 2010 to give yourself an extra 12 months before you have to pay the tax.

Shares or assets you own might have become virtually worthless. If so, you can claim the loss against your capital gains without actually disposing of the asset. You can backdate the loss relief to either of the two tax years before the one in which you make the claim, provided that in the earlier year you owned the asset and it was already of negligible value. 5 April 2010 is the time limit for backdating a claim to 2007/08.

Year End Tax Planning

Inheritance tax

Inheritance tax (IHT) is payable if a person's assets at death, plus gifts made in the seven years before death, add up to more than the nil rate band, currently £325,000.

When a surviving spouse or civil partner dies, their estate will benefit from any unused IHT nil rate band of their previously deceased spouse or partner. The transferred proportion is uplifted to the same fraction of the nil rate band in force at the date of the second death. There are, however, some limitations, especially if one or both partners have been married more than once.

Most IHT planning is not related to the tax year end, though this is as good a time as any to review your will. There are a number of reliefs and exemptions, some of which are related to the tax year.

- Gifts totalling up to £3,000 in a tax year are exempt from IHT. If you made no gifts to use this exemption in 2008/09, you can make IHT-free gifts of up to £6,000 before 6 April 2010. If you have already used your £3,000 exemption for 2009/10, you could delay your next gift until after 5 April to take advantage of the 2010/11 exemption.

- Regular gifts out of excess income can also be exempt. You need careful documentation to prove that you make the gifts from income rather than capital.
- If IHT planning in the past has left you liable to income tax on 'pre-owned' assets, consider whether you could save money by paying something for the benefit you receive – e.g. rent on a property previously given away but which you continue to live in. This is a complicated area of tax and you should obtain specialist advice.

Useful link: www.hmrc.gov.uk/inheritancetax – HMRC guide to inheritance tax.

Planning point: Make sure you have a will and that you review it regularly to ensure it reflects current IHT legislation and your wishes.

Tax-efficient investments

Some investments have income tax and CGT advantages.

Individual savings accounts (ISAs)

You can invest up to £3,600 in a cash ISA, or £5,100 if you are aged 50 or over, and up to £7,200 (£10,200 if aged 50+) in a stocks and shares ISA in each tax year. The total investment is limited to £7,200 (£10,200 if aged 50 or over), so if you invest, for example, £2,000 in a cash ISA, you can only invest £5,200 in a stocks and shares ISA that year, or £8,200 if aged 50 or over. The limits for those aged 50 or over are to be extended to all investors from 6 April 2010.

ISAs are free of UK tax on investment income and capital gains, although, as with other investments, it is not possible to reclaim the tax credits on UK dividends. There is a choice of investments, including equities and fixed-interest securities.

Remember that 16 and 17 year olds can open a cash ISA, so you may wish to provide funds for young relatives to invest. However, if you give money to your own children, the interest must not exceed £100 a year, otherwise you will pay tax on it. If this is a concern, and your child was born on or after 1 September 2002, you may choose to invest up to £1,200 per annum in a Child Trust Fund which can grow free of tax.

Enterprise investment scheme (EIS)

The EIS gives tax relief for investing in new shares in relatively small qualifying trading companies that are not listed on any Stock Exchange.

- Income tax relief is given at up to 20% on up to £500,000 invested in 2009/10, plus a further £500,000 if there is capacity to carry back to the previous year and set against 2008/09 income.

- Gains on those shares escape CGT after three years.
- It is possible to defer CGT on a gain of any size, on the disposal of any asset, by reinvesting in shares that qualify under the EIS. An EIS investment can be used to defer gains made up to three years earlier.

Venture capital trusts (VCTs)

You can obtain income tax relief of 30% by subscribing up to £200,000 for shares in VCTs in 2009/10. Gains are generally exempt from CGT after five years and dividend income is not taxable. VCTs are investment trusts that invest in a range of relatively small trading companies.

It is important to remember that EIS shares and VCTs are high-risk investments and so may be difficult to sell.

Useful link: www.ft.com – financial and market analysis.

Planning point The end of the tax year is the deadline for investing in ISAs, EISs and VCTs.

Directors and employees

From 6 April 2010 income over £150,000 will be taxed at 50% (42.5% on dividends). You might be able to avoid these additional rates for 2010/11 by bringing forward a bonus or dividend into 2009/10.

If you are going to work abroad for over a year, you should try to leave the UK before 6 April 2010. You need to be away for a whole tax year for the income from working abroad to be free of UK tax.

If you hold share options, you should look at the tax as well as the investment issues in deciding when to exercise them. Exercising your options prior to 6 April 2010 might result in a lower effective rate of tax, but will accelerate a tax charge and may not be the right decision from an investment point of view.

This is also a good time to review whether a company car is worthwhile as the tax on it is likely to increase each year. Switching to a company car with very low CO2 emissions, or a tax-free electric car, will save you and the company tax and reduce other costs.

If your business is affected by the personal service company rules (IR35), it is important to calculate how much salary to draw before 6 April 2010 to avoid being taxed on a 'deemed payment'.

If you have a director's loan account with a beneficial rate of interest, you may want to reduce the balance to £5,000 or below before 6 April 2010 (and throughout the tax year) to avoid a taxable benefit arising in 2010/11.

Finally, if you are both employed and self-employed, you may be paying excess NICs. You can defer some NICs, but you should normally apply by 5 April 2010 for deferment in 2010/11.

Planning point If you are a director-shareholder, you may find the cost of extracting a dividend is cheaper than taking more salary, although the income is not 'earnings' for pension contribution purposes. In addition, the timing of your salary or a bonus can affect your tax and national insurance liability, and the date on which it is payable.

Pension planning

Investing in a pension plan is usually worthwhile because of the tax privileges. Tax relief on a pension contribution, which must be paid out of earned income, is at least 20%.

Pension funds are broadly free of UK tax on their capital gains and investment income. When you take the benefits, up to a quarter of the fund is normally tax-free, while the pension income is taxable.

From 6 April 2011 tax relief on pension contributions will be restricted for people with income of £150,000 or more. For this purpose income will include the value of employer pension contributions. Anti-forestalling provisions already in place for 2009/10 and 2010/11 may impose a 'special annual allowance charge' on individuals with relevant income of £130,000 or more. The rules are complex but people in this position may be limited in their pension tax planning. You should take advice.

Tax treatment

The maximum you can hold in tax-favoured pension schemes is £1.75 million in 2009/10, rising to £1.8 million from 2010/11 to 2015/16.

- If you earn more than £3,600, you can pay up to the whole of your earnings into a pension scheme, but the tax relief is capped by the annual allowance of £245,000 in 2009/10, £255,000 in 2010/11, and may be restricted if your relevant income exceeds £130,000.
- If you are a higher rate taxpayer, you will get tax relief at 40% for your pension contributions. Limiting your contributions to amounts that qualify for 40% tax relief will give you the most benefit. If you are subject to tax at the 50% rate of tax in 2010/11, you may also be able to obtain tax relief at up to 50%. However, in both cases, the anti-forestalling rules may apply to reduce the rate at which you obtain relief.

- If you are a higher rate taxpayer with earnings and dividend income, and are not impacted by the anti-forestalling rules, you might be able to save tax at 42.5% by making a personal pension contribution if this means some of your dividends are no longer subject to higher rate tax. The reduction consists of the 22.5% difference between the higher (32.5%) and basic (10%) tax rates on dividend income and the 20% tax relief deducted from the pension payment.

Contracting out of S2P

Many employees who have contracted out of the State Second Pension (S2P) and transferred part of the NICs to their personal pension plans should consider contracting back in. You have to make the decision to contract back in (or to contract out) for the current year before 6 April 2010. This is a complicated matter and professional advice is essential.

Useful link: www.thepension.service.gov.uk – information about pensions and pensioner benefits.

Planning point If your relevant income has been less than £130,000 in 2009/10 and the previous two tax years, but may exceed £130,000 in 2010/11, you should consider planning your pension contributions now in order to avoid the anti-forestalling rules.

Charitable giving

You can get tax relief for any gifts to charity if you make a gift aid declaration.

You make the gift out of your taxed income and the charity benefits by claiming back basic rate tax on the value of the gift. Higher rate taxpayers can claim extra tax relief of 20%.

Although the basic rate is now 20%, charities receive tax repayments at the former 22% rate on donations made up to 5 April 2011.

- You can elect for donations made after 5 April to be treated as made in the previous tax year if made in writing at the same time as, or before, filing your tax return for the earlier year, or by 31 January following the tax year at the latest. This will benefit you if you were a higher rate taxpayer in the earlier year (and not in the current year), or where a donation is beneficial to reduce the level of relevant income in the earlier year for pensions forestalling purposes.

For donations made after 5 April 2009, claims to treat the donation as made in 2008/09 must have been made before submitting your tax return, or by 31 January 2010 at the latest.

- You can obtain both income tax and CGT relief on gifts to charities of shares listed on the stock market and certain other investments.
- Gifts to charity are free of IHT, so remembering a charity in your will can reduce the total amount of IHT to be paid on your estate.

Children

Children can have tax-free income of up to £6,475 in 2009/10. However, investment income of more than £100 a year derived from a gift from a living parent is taxed as the parent's income if the child is under 18 years old and unmarried.

- Older teenagers could work in a parent's business for a reasonable salary.
- Where a child is a beneficiary of a discretionary trust, the trustees could distribute some income and the child could reclaim some or all of the 40% tax paid on the distribution. The trust rate of tax will increase to 50% in 2010/11.

Don't forget

Children aged 16 can set up an individual savings account (ISA), but only contribute to a cash ISA. You must be over 18 to invest in a stocks and shares ISA.

For children born on or after 1 September 2002, annual investments of up to £1,200 per annum in a Child Trust Fund can grow free of income or capital gains tax.

Checklist

- Have you considered paying dividends or bonuses before 6 April to avoid next year's 50% tax rate and abatement of personal allowances?
- Have you used this year's ISA allowance and made any investments in EISs and VCTs before 6 April?
- Could you transfer income to your partner to minimise higher taxation on income of over £100,000 next year?
- If you are in business, have you timed your capital expenditure to maximise 100% tax relief, or the temporary 40% first year allowance?
- Have you used your annual CGT exemption by making any available disposals before 6 April?
